Barge Party Makes a Splash

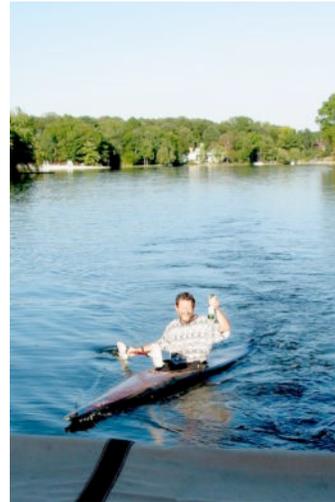

About 120 neighbors and friends enjoyed a beautiful sunset cruise at the Newcomers' annual Barge Party, which was rescheduled to Sunday, October 3. In addition to providing a sunny afternoon and cool evening, hosts Sam and Todd West also furnished that rare Lake Barcroft amenity -- an expansive, flat back yard for the after-cruise dinner. Ten barge captains generously volunteered their time (and their boats!) to escort neighbors around the Lake and share local lore. Special thanks are due to Donna Tamas, Alison Oleson, Carolyn Coldren, and Sam West; their enthusiasm and follow-through were crucial to the success of the party. -- Lisa Levine

LBA Membership Meeting, October 20, 7:30 pm

The Lake Barcroft Association civic affairs meeting is Wed., Oct. 20 at Jeb Stuart High School. Members will consider proposed bylaw changes giving the Association and Board new powers to make rules, enforce regulations, levy assessments, and collect fees. The proposed changes would also reduce the majority required to approve future bylaw changes and certain increases in fees. Homeowners received documents describing the changes in September.

November Event:
Tea Party, November 7

Date: Sunday, November 7
Time: 4:00 pm

Hosted by John and Andi Pearson, the party features real English tea brewed by natives from the other side of the pond! For those not steeped in Lake Barcroft or English tradition, the tea party is a genteel event. Men are encouraged to dress well, and ladies have a great opportunity to show off their fancy hats. Bring food suitable to consume with tea (such as cookies, crumpets, scones, pastries, or finger sandwiches).
